

Regarding Bonnie as a designer:

This is a house designed by Bonnie about 22 years ago. The detail is the domed ceiling that she painted while on scaffolding. Bonnie said she was a bit more agile back then!

A living room designed by Bonnie. (She notes that the painting over the fireplace is not one of hers.)

An early artwork that Bonnie's parents saved.

Last, but surely not least, is a very special painting that Bonnie did. She created it after five policemen were shot in Dallas about 2 years ago. There are 5 red brush strokes at the bottom of the painting that represent the policemen. The yellow brush strokes reflect hope. Bonnie said, "This was a tragedy that never should have happened. The abstracted Dallas skyline is pretty recognizable. I had this in my store window to honor the Hillsboro policemen, also."
