

The 60th Reunion is now in the history books for the WHS class of 1960. I did not attend so I can only report second hand. You can go to our website: www.whs60.org to view the reunion pictures that several took. In editing with names, some of the pictures have lost a little clarity. The names are important tho, because our faces have changed a bit in 60 years. Our website has pictures from several of the past reunions –so be sure to check those out, also. Elizabeth Bentley does a great job of keeping everything current. Again, thanks to Pat Payne who pays for the site. Their dedication is a great service to our class!

The attendance for the 60th reunion totaled 42 Tuesday night and 43 Wednesday night during this most unusual year of 2020. Linda McKee took everyone's temperature, folks entered with masks, but with eating/drinking/visiting, the masks slowly came off and folks enjoyed themselves. I understand on Wednesday night many "let their hair down" to the music and singing by Ralph Sparks as the dance floor was active. The pictures show the young at heart "cutting a rug".

Robert (Little Red) Wilson was chairman and Ken Baker, treasurer. Ken and Scoot did not get to attend as they would have had to go into quarantine for two weeks afterwards because of the rules set by the place they now call home.

Linda Phelps McKee and Gayla Miller Webb were in charge of decorations for the tables. Linda had an extra bit of work as Gayla was unable to make the reunion. Tim Lasseter was in charge of golf in which there were 9 players.

(Have you ever heard of a golfer who does not like to play?) Karon Shinault Jackson was in charge of telephoning and contacting folks...and once again, I am told she did a remarkable job. I believe Robert Wilson and Janie McPhail helped locate the missing. Howard Dudgeon again had the duty of updating the deceased books. David Dibb, our new directory keeper, came through like a pro with directories (financed by Linda McKee and Gayla Webb) for all who attended. Malissa Baugh did another fantastic job with the beautiful tiger name tags. I believe this is her fourth time to do the name tags.

Yes, it always takes a village. Thanks to all who worked hard and to all who attended. I understand some graduates in attendance want a 65th reunion. I know there were many who wanted to attend this year but the presence of a Pandemic in our nation caused them to remain at home. If and whenever we have another reunion, let's hope the Pandemic is no longer with us but the rest of us will still be alive to MAKE HISTORY WITH THE CLASS OF '60. We are the best- No brag, just fact!

The following page is dedicated to all our dearly beloved graduates who have departed too soon and are greatly missed. Oh, the memories we had back in 1957-1960 when we were in high school! There were so many miles to travel for each of us. With a reunion, though, we get to re-live some of those memories with classmates who are still lucky enough to be walking around on planet earth.

To steal from Carol Burnett and what seems to fit most appropriately with our group: "I'm so glad we had this time together, to have a laugh or sing a song. Seems we just get started and before you know it, comes the time we have to say, "So long".

As you all know, David Rosen, our graduate, has been an RN in Waco for 30 years. He has made an excellent reputation for himself during that time! Back in April I ran a piece that David sent regarding how he had suffered with lingering back pain but had been helped by using cold laser. Another of our graduates, Robert (Little Red) Wilson, read this article, talked with David about it, and took some treatments. Robert wants to share his experience with us. I will also rerun David's piece for anyone who might be experiencing a long-term pain issue. We are all in this together and any way we can help one another with any information that might make life a little more tolerable, we need to share the news.

First: from Robert Wilson:

"I have lower back pain from 4th and 5th vertebra. After six laser treatments from David Rosen my back does not hurt. I play golf 3 or 4 times a week. I also have arthritis in my right wrist and right thumb. My wrist no longer hurts. My thumb is better but still needs help. My Medical pain Dr. said even if it did not help me, the treatment would not hurt me. I am glad David reached out to me. I think David can help most of our class.

Give him a call."

Robert Wilson

Rerun of David Rosen's message of April 2020:

Most important message from David Rosen:

"After reading issues of the Town Crier over the years, I have seen that many of our fellow classmates suffer from common pain issues. My motorcycle accident while at WHS caused me years and years of unbearable back pain, which began about ten years after we graduated. Finally, I got relief after being treated about six or seven years ago with an ml830 cold laser...and have been almost back pain free for the past six years (face it...at our age we are never pain free, everywhere). I was so impressed with the cold laser that I opened a small, appointment only pain clinic here in Waco about a year ago. Since I am still a full time 30 year-RN (my second career), I treat pain patients by appointment only. If you have time to include this message for fellow students, have them look at my web site and read about the cold laser. I'll be happy to visit (about pain) with any 1960 graduate (including spouses) and give a couple of free treatments to see if the laser will help their pain. With the laser, there is no heat, no shots, no surgery, and no invasive procedures."

Thanks,

David Rosen

FROM OUR GRADUATES:

Clara Sue Griffis Arnsdorff: I loved reading about Linda (Phelps McKee)'s many ventures---and seeing the beautiful pictures of her home. She has a true talent for decorating. I especially loved the National Geographic framed collection--that is a truly novel idea. I also spotted some antique or repro iron banks atop a ledge over the framed collection.

I share the charges of being a 'hoarder' as I too enjoy antiques and have an antique space which needs to be replenished frequently....gives me a chance to visit estate/garage sales, but the current problems have slowed that considerably. I understand the need we both have to 'collect'.

I enjoyed Chinky's story so much---what a wonderful life she has had.

Linda Shelby Lyons: Congrats to Linda McKee for her beautiful Christmas decorations. I would love to see them. I remember the bubble lights and angel hair and loved both. I have a few ornaments I saved from my childhood but rarely decorate anymore. It's just too much trouble to put stuff up then to take it down again.

Carolyn Wolf Lloyd: I loved reading about Linda Phelps McKee. She has had a wonderful and interesting life. Her home is absolutely beautiful. I am quite envious of all the Christmas trees. I used to decorate my one tree with lots of ornaments from places we had been, but it got to be such a hassle to take them all down and store them away that I hardly put up any decorations at all now. I guess I am just getting very lazy.

Bev Wells: "I have received numerous scam emails from "Amazon" look-alike sites in the past and I've even called Amazon to report about the bogus emails and they said they knew about it but they don't go anything about it. They have the money but won't investigate the culprits.

So, needless to say, I don't use Amazon. I have boycotted them and advise others to do the same. Buy local and if you have a local issue, you are nearby to deal with it.

Never, never, never give out your credit card or back account numbers even if it looks legit...call them first and you will more than likely find out it's a "scam." Then delete that message quickly."

A Neat Idea:

Medical Corner:

Stroke has a new indicator. There is Now a Fourth Indicator, the Tongue

STROKE: Remember these Letters..... S. T. R. T. and STA RT (A is for ambulance)

During a BBQ, a woman stumbled and took a little fall - she assured everyone that she was fine (they offered to call paramedics) ...she said she had just tripped over a brick because of her new shoes.

They got her cleaned up and got her a new plate of food. While she appeared a bit shaken up, Jane went about enjoying herself the rest of the evening.

Jane's husband called later telling everyone that his wife had been taken to the hospital - (at 6:00 PM Jane passed away) She had suffered a stroke at the BBQ. Had they known how to identify the signs of a stroke, perhaps Jane would be with us today. Some don't die. They end up in a helpless, hopeless condition instead.

It only takes a minute to read this.

A neurologist says that if he can get to a stroke victim within 3 hours he can totally reverse the effects of a stroke...totally. He said the trick was getting a stroke recognized, diagnosed, and then getting the patient medically cared for within 3 hours, which is tough.

RECOGNIZING A STROKE

STRT. Read and Learn! Sometimes symptoms of a stroke are difficult to identify. Unfortunately, the lack of awareness spells disaster. The stroke victim may suffer severe brain damage when people nearby fail to recognize the symptoms of a stroke.

Now doctors say a bystander can recognize a stroke by asking three simple questions:

S * Ask the individual to SMILE.

Ask the person to TALK and SPEAK A SIMPLE SENTENCE (Coherently)

R* Ask him or her to RAISE BOTH ARMS.

If he or she has trouble with ANY ONE of these tasks, call an emergency number immediately and describe the symptoms to the dispatcher.

New Sign of a Stroke ----- Stick out Your Tongue!

Another 'sign' of a stroke is: Ask the person to 'stick' out his tongue. If the tongue is 'crooked', if it goes to one side or the other, that is also an indication of a stroke.

A cardiologist says if everyone who gets this will send to 10 people, you can bet that at least one life will be saved.

This month features Larry Thomas whose story shows the importance other people can play upon shaping our lives. Not only can others influence us, but we can make an influence on others... hopefully, all towards the positive. As Larry stated to me," I haven't changed the world, but have overcome some adversity". We never know who or what will be that 'some little something' that really gets our attention or forever changes our lives. We must, however, keep ourselves open to receive change and then go forward with actions that set a good example for someone else. Larry experienced and did just that. Pay it forward, friends. Now, Larry's story after high school: PS: I think the guys in our class will especially be interested in Larry's "collection of toys" pictured at the end of his story.

"Although I was mostly behind the scenes in our class, I thought I would share my story with some successes and a few failures along the way.

Mrs. Wood made me repeat 11th grade English by going to summer school so that I could graduate with the class in 1960. My home room and speech teacher, Miss Coffield, handed me a small piece of paper with only this on it: "412/424." That class ranking would motivate me to do something worthwhile.

The U.S. Army probably helped me to mature and set priorities more than anything. I joined the 36th Division of The Texas National Guard after getting into trouble and being kicked out of Baylor after only one semester.

A life-changing experience occurred when I had an appointment at the Columbus Avenue Baptist Church's parsonage where I got on my knees as Dr. Joe Weldon Bailey led me to turn my life over to Jesus Christ. God has used some incredible servants to open doors along this journey.

In 1965 Travis Dubois talked to me one Wednesday night after church. He said that if I ever wanted to go back to school to come by his office. He was the Dean of Men at Baylor and had been instrumental in my being dismissed from Baylor. I managed to graduate from Baylor with a BBA in January of 1970. I've often jokingly used those two weeks in 1970 to tell my younger friends that I, too, was in college in the "70"s.

My first after-college job was the controller for the real estate subsidiary of Texas Industries when a coworker suggested I should apply for a job in Houston at Mitchell Energy. I soon found myself an economist instead of an accountant. Mitchell Energy issued me a computer terminal that weighed 35 pounds and looked like a giant typewriter. It could be attached to a land line phone (1973) and allowed me to call Cleveland where the only mainframe computer in the country was set up to do 20 year projections and forecasting for large scale real estate projects. Nowadays, you could do something like this on your iPhone. I did all the forecasting for both lenders and the government since the project was financed by HUD. Mitchell Energy owned 17,000 acres of property purchased as timberland off IH-45 and Saw Mill Road. I was part of planning a project that is now known as The Woodlands, Texas.

Another developer in Houston wanted to hire me, but I felt his job had limited opportunity. He referred me to his friend who was a Trammell Crow partner. Crow owned land on Lake Shore Drive in Waco and hired me as project manager for several properties around the Village Green/Greenleaf area off Lake Shore Drive. Later, Crow transferred me to the Dallas office where I traveled and managed land projects in 13 states. I later became a regional operating partner managing land development projects in the San Antonio area. Through all this, I learned if you developed land and sold it, you eventually worked yourself out of a job.

Then, a friend opened another door. He was a well-respected engineer serving on the board of several financial institutions and he had been my engineer on most of my Crow projects. I was able to secure funding for three new land developing projects. My company got too big, too fast. I owned over 1,000 finished residential lots and a couple thousand acres of undeveloped land in Bexar, Comal and Travis counties when the real estate market crashed in the late 80's. This situation resulted in a divorce and eventually a bankruptcy.

Finding employment was difficult. I actually sold off much of my baseball card collection to provide for basic living expenses. I had been asked if I would consider working for Baylor. Baylor was looking for a Development Officer (different type development) for the Dallas Development office. My resume was left on the desk of the outgoing VP for Development since Baylor was restructuring under a new administration. While working in Virginia, I got a call from Dr. Richard Scott at Baylor who was moving from the Business School to the position of VP for Development. I asked him if I could come down for an interview. He said, "No, I have known you since you were one of my students. I'm offering you a job in Dallas."

Thanks to all those people who God sent in my life, I started over again. This was an opportunity for a new career path. Little did I know that this would lead to another opened door. During one airline flight in August 2002 as I traveled to California to meet with Baylor donors, I happened to sit next to a recent graduate, Marie, who was traveling with her single mother. They were traveling to see Marie's brother play football for Baylor against the University of California. I had put together a dinner at a restaurant on the water in San Francisco the next day for about 40 Baylor donors who lived in Northern California. There had been a couple of cancellations, so I invited Marie and her mother, Judy, to join us. In April 2004, Judy and I got married. I retired from Baylor and then worked raising money for the Texas Baptist Missions Foundation for another ten years.

Judy and I are blessed to live in a gated community in Fairview. Both of Judy's kids graduated from Baylor as did my daughter, Paige. Paige is living in the Metroplex after having retired as a Delta Airlines pilot. Together, Judy and I have 5 grandchildren who bless us every day.

Health wise, I survived prostate cancer in 2009. Currently I am not taking any medication or vitamins. I've enjoyed snow skiing, mostly in Colorado and Utah, couple of trips to ski the Alps (Italy and Austria), lots of car shows, rallies, and auto cross. We are blessed to enjoy life one day at a time despite the pandemic and whatever happens next."

PICTURES:

David and Anita Dibb just returned from a visit to Blue Ridge Parkway and Smoky Mountain National Park.

They visited the famous Mast General Store....a very famous general store around those parts. Here is a picture of the candy barrels in the store in Waynesville, NC. We know what caught David's eye!!! That is Anita in the background....looks like the sweets caught her eye, too. Anyone remember the licorice Scottie dog candy? A bagful found its way back to Florence, SC with David and Anita.

Karon Shinault Jackson is an artist with fabric. She does exquisite work! She has won several first place awards. This is one of her latest projects and how she describes it:

"This is my crazy quilt that almost drove me crazy! It is 30x36" but the frame is larger. Ellie, the Elegant Elephant is named for Ellender Chase, the mother of a great friend of ours. She came to be after I found a picture of an elephant drawn in one inch squares. I had that image enlarged and began choosing silk and velvets to build the elephant using a collection of fabrics and garments assembled over many years. Some of the fabrics were from clothing I had worn and others, such as the piece for the elephant's basket, were from places I had ventured to. I thought that I could put Ellie together in about a week, but she occupied several weeks of Covid19 sheltering-in-place time. Now that she is finished she will hang on our dining room wall."
